Further, I hereby agree that Organizer shall have the right to sell, rent, license, distribute, or otherwise use reproductions of my presentation (including my picture, voice, image and/or likeness), as well as any handout or other materials used during my presentation, without any obligation of reimbursement to me or anyone else for said reproductions.

Subject to the rights granted to Organizer herein, I understand that I shall retain ALL rights to the use, publication, and reproduction of this material. I further certify that all such materials are my own original work and/or that I have included written permission from the copyright holder to reproduce his/her copyrighted work.

I hereby release, discharge and acquit Organizer from any and all claims, demands or causes of action that I may hereafter have against Organizer arising from Organizer's exercise of any right granted herein, and specifically waive any statutory restriction on waivers of future claims or moral rights.
